Malanda Bridge Club

It has been an unusual year, to say the least. This pandemic that has been unleashed on the whole world has forced everyone to rethink how we do things. However, bridge players are very resilient. Most of us adapted very quickly to the online world of bridge, and we are enjoying it immensely. Sadly, Some players have created ways to cheat. This is a piece from the Weekend Australian.

We in Queensland have been very lucky so far, and some of us have been able to return to play at our clubs, whilst adhering to very strict Covid rules. Our local committee, and Members, have worked very hard to make this possible, and should be applauded.
